Miss Bowman, Miss Dykes Retire After Giving Lifetime of Service

Farewells for Miss Estella Bowman and Miss Mattie M. Dykes are echoing through the halls of Northwest Missouri State College. These outstanding teachers are retiring at the end of this summer semester. Their retirement was announced May 24 at commencement exercises by Dr. J. W. Jones, president of the College.

Both Miss Bowman and Miss Dykes are members of the English department. Miss Dykes joined the faculty in 1922 and Miss Bowman came a year later in 1923. Together they have spent a total of 69 years instilling in students a knowledge of English grammar and a love for American and English literature.

President Jones stated: "The lives of hundreds of persons have been enriched by the teaching of Miss Bowman and Miss Dykes who are retiring from the faculty at the end of the summer session. Undoubtedly the English language as a medium of expression has become more alive to all students who have been enrolled in their courses. The study of both American and English literature under these capable teachers has broadened the knowledge of their students and brought enjoyment both in reading and vicariously experiencing the life portrayed in the masterpieces assigned.

"Surely the satisfaction of having contributed to the education of so many college men and women means much to these outstanding instructors and will continue to enliven the future years.

"We shall always remember and revere their excellent service to our college."

Miss Bowman received her B. A. degree from Washburn and her M. A. degree from the University of Colorado. She also studied at the University of Wisconsin and at Cambridge, England.

She has served on Maryville's library board and on many committees here at the college. During last semester, she was recognized by a Polish publication for research work she did for a periodical. She has received from Warsaw a copy of this publication.

Miss Bowman said: "As I came to the college in its early days, I feel that I have grown up with the college. We weathered the period of the depression and gained strength through those years. The V-12 program was an interesting experience. With the return of the veterans from the Second World War and the Korean War the college took on new vitality and maturity and is now ready for a splendid future. My associations with the faculty have been happy ones, and through the years I have cherished my friendships with my students. I shall have only happy memories of my life at Northwest Missouri State College."

Graduate Students To Obtain Carrels

Graduate students may be assigned study space in the reading room of the Library where they may leave books and papers if they so desire. Students wishing study space may inquire at the circulation desk.

Locked carrels where students may leave materials and books are available for persons writing theses, according to James Johnson, librarian.

Enrollment

Enrollment in the graduate division of the College has reached a new high with 72 graduate students. The Teacher Incentive Clause in the public school Foundation Program and the general desire of the teacher to advance are believed responsible for the increase.

Total enrollment is 822 this summer.

Expansion Is to Meet Future College Needs

In order to meet expected increases in enrollment, Northwest Missouri State College is embarking on an expansion program. This program is in accord with the substantial enrollment increases in recent years and the expected enrollment of 2,000 students in 1960.

New buildings planned for the campus are a health and physical education building, two dormitories, and a classroom building.

The new health and physical education building is to stand just west of the present gymnasium, and will have 48,000 square feet of floor space—more than twice the size of existing facilities. Although it has been designed primarily as a classroom building to be used by the department of health and physical education, it will provide much more room for intercollegiate games than the present gymnasium provides.

The main room will be about 120 by 215 feet, with a basketball court in the center, which is to be surrounded by a rubberized asphalt floor for general use. Seating capacity of the bleachers will be increased from 1,300 to 2,400, with some space for additional seating if and when needed. A tunnel will connect the new structure with the present gymnasium for use of the pool.

The second building scheduled for the campus is another unit for housing co-eds, which will be located just south of Residence Hall. It is anticipated that this addition will provide quarters for 190, bringing the number of women to be housed on campus to about 420.

Plans for a new construction in the area of the Quads, which will provide for about 136 more men, will begin at the same time.

The arts and science classroom building will be approximately in the triangular area south of the Union, east of the College lake, and north of the President's residence.

Appropriations

STATE—
Health and Physical Education	$ 500,000
Classroom	1,150,000
Repairs and Remodeling	380,000
Dormitories (one-third)	135,000
FEDERAL—
For two dormitories	850,000

President J. W. Jones has said that the following three factors are being considered in relation to the new buildings:

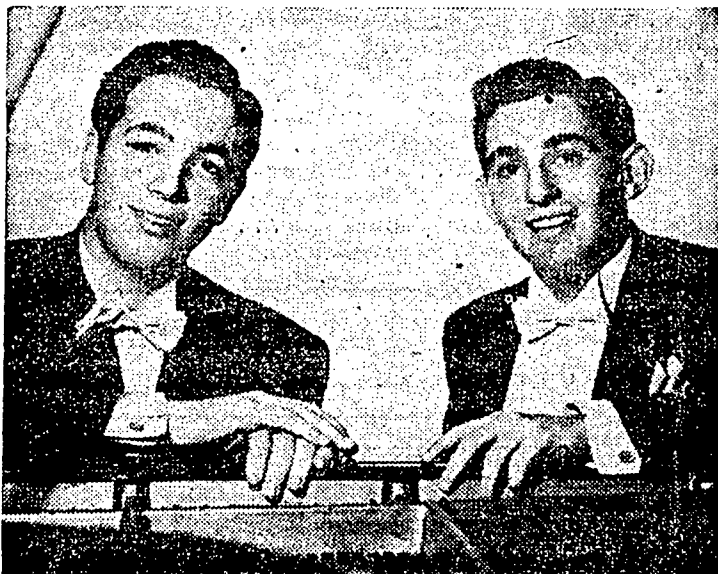

1. Site—where the buildings are to be located. This factor must be studied to avoid obsolete arrangement in future years. Landscaping plays an important role as to the location of a particular building and its function on campus.

2. Relation between buildings and their requirements.

3. Last, but not least, the time element involved in construction.

The buildings will be completed as soon as it is humanly possible to complete them, according to the President.

Young American Duo-Pianists To Play for Friday's Assembly

MELVIN STECHER AND NORMAN HOROWITZ

Melvin Stecher and Norman Horowitz will be featured at the second summer assembly to be held June 21 at 9:50 a. m. in the auditorium.

These young American duo-pianists were born and educated in New York City. Each pursued separate classical careers as soloists before forming a duo-piano team in June 1951.

As a duo-piano team, they have appeared throughout the United States and Canada. They have been acclaimed by both the public and the press as one of the most outstanding duo-teams teams in this country today.

Because of the versatility of the duo-piano team, they were featured in the stage presentation at the famed Radio City Music Hall where they have completed eighty-four performances.

In addition to their present summer engagements, an extensive fall tour of the United States is currently being arranged for the duo-pianists. They have already completed two trans-continental tours in this capacity.

Because of the difficulty of obtaining two concert grand pianos in many cities throughout the United States, Stecher and Horowitz now travel with two nine-foot Steinway grand pianos.

Where Do We Go From Here?

This summer the future of student government on this campus is being shaped by a constitutional revision committee, a committee which can shape the course of student government-administration relations. The difficulty lies in finding the middle ground between student or administration dominated government.

A "free wheeling" independent student government is handicapped by the lack of resources and experience that would be at its command in a program of strong cooperation between students and administration.

In an administration-dominated student government system, the students are not allowed to assume full responsibility and in time tend to abdicate all responsibility to the administration. The "ideal" state exists when the students are free to initiate new ideals, programs, and change, but at the same time to be responsible enough to cooperate and work with the administration.

Regardless of how well the committee does its job the new constitution will not go into effect unless one-half of the students go to the polls and vote. Only thirty per cent voted in the last senate elections. Will fifty per cent vote this time? Will You?

Time to Play!

This month has been designated by the National Recreation Association as National Recreation Month. It is the month when the nation takes to the open roads, parks, pools, fishing resorts, tennis courts, and camping grounds. Yet, some persons can still find nothing to do. They have time on their hands and can find nothing wholesome or recreational to do.

Recently a questionnaire was sent out to 13,000 young people. It was concerned with what they did with their spare time. Of those young people, 13 per cent said that they loafed away their time. Forty-eight percent said that they watched television for the largest part of their recreation. Camping was mentioned as recreation; however that did not mean camping in front of the T.V. Ralph Waldo Emerson once said, "Time has no resurrection."

In recreation and spare time activity, people have been placed in four categories. These are (1) loafers, (2) T.V. monsters, (3) worthy users of leisure, (4) week-end travelers.

On this campus, there are some of the finest facilities that can be found on any college campus in the midwest. NWMSC has one of the few college-owned and operated swimming pools. It has facilities to play nearly every game one may desire. Students may go out and play a free round of golf or play tennis or badminton for the same low price. Finances can be no excuse for staying in and wasting time. The best things in life are free.

Miss Bowman, Miss Dykes Retire

Miss Dykes received her B. S. degree from Northwest Missouri State College and her M. A. from the University of Chicago. She has done graduate work at the University of London, the University of Chicago, the University of Colorado, and at Cambridge.

Last fall Miss Dykes's BEHIND THE BIRCHES, a history of the college, was published. She is editor of the "National Federation of Press Women" and sponsor of the Writers' club. She has interested many others in creative writing.

Miss Dykes said: "I have tried to inspire my students to intellectual curiosity and activity, to intellectual and moral integrity, to have respect for high cultural and moral qualities and to have a desire to attain them. As I leave teaching at the College, I am not 'retiring' at all, for I shall be busy; I shall keep the Writers' Club going, for one thing; I shall write; I am already teaching a disabled veteran to weave; I shall do many things I have always wanted to do."

Faculty members and students have expressed regret at the retirement of these endeared teachers.

Notes From

Commencement

Russell Hamilton, a graduate of Northwest State and a project engineer for the Ford Company in Detroit, spoke on "Facts, Fiction, and Fun," at the annual banquet of the Northwest State College Alumni Association, which was held May 21 at the Union. There were 160, including 84 seniors, in attendance.

Mr. Hamilton told of his college life here, and how things have changed. He explained the importance of the new water plant that the Ford Company is processing. He stressed the responsibility that the graduating class faces.

Earl Bridgewater was elected for a two-year term on the executive board. Miss Laura B. Hawkins, Maryville, was re-elected treasurer. Mrs. Florene Kyger, president, was in charge of the meeting.

Dr. A. C. Breckenridge, University of Nebraska's dean of faculties and 1937 graduate of Northwest State, spoke on "Great Expectations" at the commencement exercises on May 24.

In his talk on "Great Expectations," Dr. Breckenridge asked whether World War III can be avoided. In discussing this question he gave three alternatives to the problem: to be indifferent, to become desperate, or to follow the middle-of-the-road approach.

He said to avoid conformity and have faith. He called upon the graduates to have "intellectual honesty, a high degree of stamina, and courage" to accept the challenging problems of the world in which we live.

State College Alumni

Mrs. Alberta Cory, typing and shorthand teacher, has been notified by the editor of "Business Teachers" that her name has been placed on the Honor Roll as a Gregg "Vel."

Mrs. Cory, who will complete her 31st year of teaching on May 31, 1957, received her training at Hardin College for Girls in Mexico, Mo., Northwest Missouri State College, and the University of Colorado. She has taught in Oklahoma, Missouri, California, Texas and Illinois.

John Dunlap was elected president of the Kansas City alumni chapter at a recent meeting. Other officers elected were Mrs. Marie Wagner and Melville Strong, vice-presidents, and Miss Lois Tripp, secretary-treasurer.

President J. W. Jones spoke at the meeting.

Robert Andrews, an alumnus, will teach at St. James Academy, Fairbault, Minnesota, this summer.

Ernest Stalling, superintendent at Burlington Junction for the last 10 years, was on the campus visiting friends recently.

Dr. Harriet Harvey, a graduate of the College, was one of four women honored recently by Soroptimist International of Oklahoma City at the club's annual awards dinner.

Dr. Harvey was born in Tarkio. After being graduated from this college, she went to Chicago University where she taught while working toward her doctor's degree, awarded in 1951.

Dr. Harvey is now a teacher at the University of Oklahoma. Her scientific research has brought national recognition to the University during her five years there.

Word was recently received from the former College physics instructor, Gordon Gross, and his wife Shirley, Hickman Mills, that their home was badly damaged in the recent tornado; however, they escaped injury.

William Corken, a 1953 graduate of the College, was recently made public relations officer at the Atchison County Bank, Rock Port. He formerly worked at the Citizens Bank, Rock Port.

Mr. Corken taught and coached at Rock Port prior to his taking a job at the Citizens Bank.

Mrs. Corken, the former Miss Jean Long, is also a 1953 graduate of the College. She is a teacher in the Rock Port school system.

Dr. George has taught for nine years in Kansas high schools. Dr. and Mrs. George have two daughters, Carolyn, age 11, and Marsha, 7.

Mrs. Delores Gex, who was graduated from Northwest Missouri State College in 1948, is an instructor in the education department this summer. She has attended Missouri University and received her master's degree from Kansas City University. Mrs. Gex teaches first grade at Edison Elementary School in St. Joseph.

James Johnson, College librarian, and Mrs. Johnson recently attended a meeting of the college librarian section of the Missouri Library Association at Fayette.

The library implementation of the President's committee on education beyond high school was the main topic of discussion.

Members of Kappa Omicron Phi honored their graduating senior members with a formal banquet at Armstrong's recently. Gifts were presented to the seven seniors who are Glenda Rice, Betty Cooksey, Lona Lu Babb, Bette Cox, Barbara Gromer, Fiona Nelson and Karen Arms.

Six pledges of Alpha Phi Omega have been initiated into active membership. They are James McIntyre, Dennis Mathies, Jerald Barten, Jerry Skipton, Larry Kessler, and Eldon Froth.

At a party for seniors at the close of the first semester, Residence Hall women presented silver spoons to 26 graduating Hall women.

Physical Education has been found to rank highest in the group of 72 graduate students with 17 majors in the department. Elementary Education ranks second with 15. English and History tie for third place with 6 each.

The fine arts department of the College had on display last week 120 news pictures of the year. This display was co-sponsored by the National Press Photographers Association and the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Love of Art Stimulates Desire Professor to Collect China

ADMIRING HIS HOBBY . . . is Dr. J. A. Dreps, head of the foreign language department, who collects china and glass.

By Rose Mary Meyer

"El arte verdadera esta siempre en el corazon del alma artistica, es la expresion de todas sus pulsaciones," stated Dr. J. A. Dreps, foreign language professor at this college for 14 years, when asked about his collection of fine china.

His interest began with some pieces of china and old glass, both red and clear, which were among his parents' wedding gifts. He said, "I used to stand in the entry door and look at the china glass in the high cupboards, trying to get in. One day I took five tumblers and broke anyone of them. I think this was my first real sorrow. This incident taught me that art objects have value and must be handled with care."

His study of foreign languages, especially French, stimulated great interest. He became particularly interested in floral patterns on Haviland china because the French people are great lovers of flowers and also for the sake of studying French art of design.

First Pieces Were Haviland The first pieces acquired were a tea size cup and saucer of Haviland china decorated with a tiny blue and yellow floral pattern edged in gold and three tea size Haviland cups and saucers of floral pattern edged in gold.

Different kinds of china in his collection include Sevres, Capo di Monte, Haviland, Bavarian, Dresden, Royal Austrian, Karlsbad, Copenhagen, Royal Worcester, and Wedgwood.

Has Favorite Patterns His favorite pattern of Dresden is the Morning Glory; of the Sevres is the Marie Antoinette Blue; and the Haviland is the small double rose design with gold edging and slight bas-relief around the rim.

He has the Sevres china from Sevres, France, is from the farthest-away place. Much of this china was made for the royalty. He also has china from Germany, Denmark, Switzerland as well as from the United States.

Prized Pieces Are Sevres The oldest pieces of china in his collection are a cup and saucer of Marie Antoinette Blue with floral design. These pieces of Sevres china date from 1749. He considers this cup and saucer and matching blue plates his most prized pieces. A Royal Worcester rose vase from England is also treasured by Dr. Dreps. His most costly piece is a Meissen vase from Germany.

Recent Collections Are From Italy One of the most recent additions is a piece of Capo di Monte china from Italy. This dish has a red background decorated with gold and a small picture illustrating Napoleon in the battle of Friedland. The most recently acquired piece is a Haviland cup.

Places from which he has acquired china include his travels abroad, private sales, antique shops, country auctions, junk shops, and Bekin's Van and Storage Company of Sioux City, Iowa. One set of plates once belonged to a movie actress. He bought them in an antique shop which was once the home of Oliver Wendell Holmes on Beacon Street in Boston.

Dr. Dreps commented that any of several pieces is used "when the occasion presents itself." "I enjoy this hobby because it is non-time consuming," he concluded.

Summer Teachers Meet in Seminar

The first seminar of the summer session was held in the Horace Mann auditorium, June 11, at 4:00 p. m. The purpose of this seminar was to orientate the student teachers to the different plan of teaching which is employed during the summer session.

Because of the large number of student teachers and the limited amount of time, the summer session is handled on a different basis. The plan is set up like a workshop, with the supervising teacher acting as coordinator, and each student making contributions. This method enables them all to work together, gaining experience in working with strengthening the learning skills of children, and working this phase into the total pattern of a unifying experience.

These seminars, which involve all student teachers, are more or less general faculty meetings for supervising teachers and student teachers. The meetings are employed as a supplement to regular conferences between the student teacher and his supervising teacher.

Classroom Teachers Hold Campus Day; Ewald Turner Speaks

Campus day for classroom teachers was held on the campus on June 12 with Mr. Ewald Turner from Pendleton, Oregon, as guest speaker, and Mildred Hennigh, first vice-president, Northwest Missouri Classroom Teachers Association, presiding.

Platform guests were President J. W. Jones, Frieda Elwick, Raymond Moore, Dr. Wanda Walker, Virginia Frazier, and Martha Copeland.

Luncheon was served in the Union.

Mr. Turner, in his talk, spoke of classroom teachers as "keys to education" and pointed out three ways to use the key.

First—Recruitment by example where one, as a teacher, may influence students to become good teachers if a good example has been set.

Second—Increased professional activity such as taking part in N. E. A. and other organizations. Mr. Turner brought out that too many like to benefit from an organization without taking part in the work.

Third—Aim toward a richer, fuller life in time of uncertainty.

Many are guilty of misplaced values as shown by the increased number of alcoholics and the need for increased religious training. Good citizens must have integrity and pass it on to the classroom by living examples.

In conclusion, Mr. Turner pointed out that we hope the night of confusion is passing and that the teachers and schools will be the hope for tomorrow by using the "keys" and giving the best always.

Many Teachers Come to Campus For Health Clinic

The Department of Physical Education and Health acted as host to the professional physical education people of the northwestern Missouri area yesterday and Monday. The theme of the clinic was "Building Health Responsibilities in the School and Community."

The opening address was given by Miss Charlotte V. Leach. The concern of this talk was "Health and Our Children." Miss Leach is the Adviser of Health Education to the National Tuberculosis Association in New York state.

The main speaker, William Green, of the Missouri Heart Association, introduced the topic of "Problems in School Health Education."

Dr. Wallace Wesley, of the Medical Association, used as his topic "The Meaning of Health Services." Dr. Moss, of the United States Public Health Service, introduced the topic "Environmental Health Problems of the School and Community."

The people in attendance found a better understanding and solutions to some specific health problems. The clinic was a success and NWMSC looks forward to having these people back next summer.

Dr. Grube States Tennis Court Need

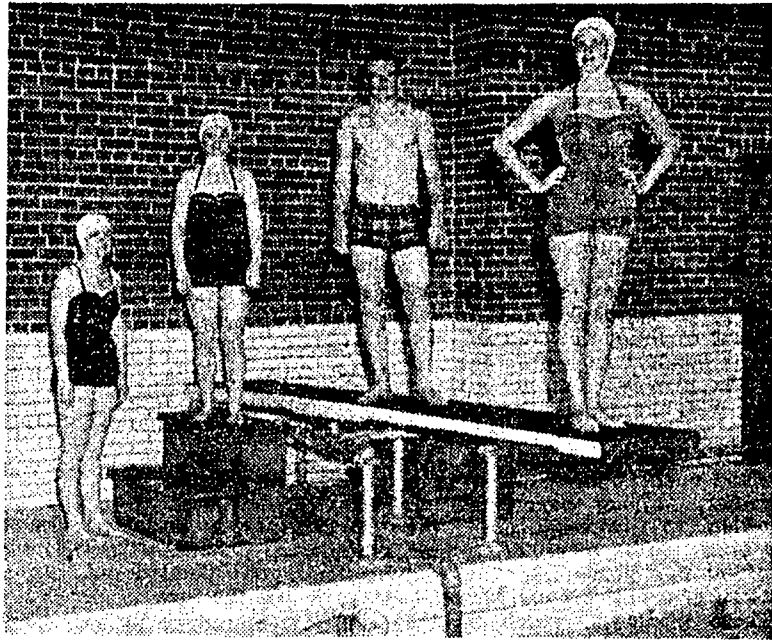

Having revised tennis at this College nine years ago, Dr. Frank W. Grube has expressed the fact that the need for two more tennis courts is continually growing. "With the varsity using the available courts, people are being turned away each evening by the courts being full," stated Dr. Grube.

Dr. Grube won varsity letters from Shurtleff College in baseball and track and was a member of Rutgers University baseball team his freshman year. Grube, who is tennis coach at this College, has had other experience in the coaching field. He was tennis and cross country coach at Simpson College and tennis and baseball mentor at Iowa Wesleyan before coming to the College ten years ago.

"Individual sports that students can take from school and carry on through life," related Dr. Grube, "are my main interest. Such sports as ice skating, swimming, golf, tennis, bowling, and hiking rate high in my book."

During the winter Dr. Grube is not dormant. On the coldest of nights, Grube may be seen out on the College pond teaching young children the fundamental points of skating.

Vic Cromer Wins High Recognition In College Sports

Vic Cromer was awarded the trophy and honor of the Outstanding Athlete of the year at the Honors Assembly preceding the close of the second semester. This is the highest honor that can be placed on an individual in the intramural sports program in any college or university in the U. S.

This award is based on a point system which makes allowances for varsity athletics as well as for those on an intramural basis. Vic participated in the following activities: Intercollegiate—football and track; Intramurals—badminton, basketball, free throw contest, volleyball, swimming, and wrestling. Any man that can participate in all these activities deserves at least this much recognition if not a great deal more.

Vic had a total of 249 points and the man second in this system was last year's winner with 198 points. The winner last year was Larry Rowley.

Former Bearcat Heads Wildcats in Michigan

The appointment of Marine veteran, William Sherman, as Roseville, Mich., Wildcats' head football coach was recently announced by the superintendent's office. He is now coach of the Wildcat junior varsity baseball squad, which has had one of its best seasons in history this year. Sherman, 26, is a veteran of the Korean War, having served three years as captain in the Marine corps.

Sherman is the son of Mrs. Fay Sherman, who is secretary to the dean at the College, and the late Joseph A. Sherman, former prosecuting attorney at St. Joseph.

Born and educated in St. Joseph, Sherman is a graduate of the College. He played half back on the varsity football team and received his degree in 1951.

GOLFERS . . . Do you want to play golf this summer? If here is all you have to do. See Dr. H. D. Peterson and sign up for your College golf permit. With this permit you may play anytime except Thursday prior to 4:00 p.m., Sundays, and holidays (for free no less).

SWIMMERS . . . The College pool is open every Tuesday and Thursday from 4:00 to 5:30 p.m. There is a qualified swimming instructor available to help you with your strokes (all for free).

The Maryville pool is open for the summer. The charge for adults and students is 40c, for children 25c. Season tickets are only $6.00. Figure it out and see how much you can save by buying one of these tickets.

TENNIS ENTHUSIASTS . . . The College has available for you, tennis courts which can be used at any time, except, of course, when classes are being held on the courts. Tennis shoes must be worn for play on these courts.

SOFTBALL . . . Maryville sponsors a softball league for the college men as well as for the men that are residents. We should like to see the college men enter this league and perhaps win the trophy.

SMASH . . . There is a new game called Smash in the conditioning room in the basement of the gymnasium. If you play Ping Pong, you can play Smash. It is a lead-up game to an and all of the racket games such as tennis or badminton.

From Bedsprings To Trampolines

The trampoline made its appearance on the College campus in mid-winter of this year. It was a new and interesting piece of apparatus for those who were brave enough to crawl up and try to bounce on it.

The trampoline is like a big overgrown bed, with a steadier base and quite a bit more bounce. It is like all other pieces of such sort in that it can or cannot be dangerous, depending upon the person using it. A beginner should take it slow and avoid getting fancy until he knows what he is doing.

When trying his skill on the trampoline, one should wear clothing in which he can move freely such as shorts and a shirt.

There will be a list on the bulletin board for those who are interested to sign. It is hoped that enough will become interested in this activity so that the trampoline will become another popular recreational activity on the campus.
